Commitments in National Common Minimum Programme. The Group has, inter-alia, recommended the following:

(i) A specialized ombudsman may be created who can award compensation to the small investor (across markets/products) who has lost money for whatever reason except for market loss or his own negligence.

(ii) Either SEBI or any other suitable agency may be entrusted with the responsibility to protect the interests of investors in other financial products, like deposits/bonds of companies etc.

(iii) In order to avoid protracted legal battles, the facility called 'plea bargaining' whereby the offender, who simply pays up without admitting to an offence, is let off, should be considered by the authorities.
